8 ALUTATORY ADDRESS.

Another year with its pleasures and froubles has ended, and we are gathered at the most pleasant occasion of the whole year. Indeed is the day greeted with joy. It is peculiarly so to ur, as we are about to celebrate it. This is not the centennial of the college, but the Georgetown College has been patriotic ever since its organization, and we want you to participate in the exercises. Again let us ask you to join in the joy of our country. Do this and we will appreciate it. We are delighted to see so many lair faces before us, for if we should falter we should be reassured by your looks. We welcome you to the exercises of the class of 1876. We greet you as those who manifest pleasure towards us. You come bearing with your floral offerings, your goodwill and encouragement to the class. Let me, then, ask your kind indulgence for my associates, which will be appreciated.

The following order of exercises was gone through with: Potpourri, "Polnito;" "American Poets," Clement Manly; song, "Hash;" "American Oratore," John G. Agar, "Le Petit Faust," "A Century's Progress," Bell W. Etheridge; fantasia, "Orphee aux Enfer."

The following degrees were then conferred: Master of Arts. William J. Blakely, M. D.

fantasia, "Grphee aux Enfor."

The following degrees were then conferred: Master of Arts, William J. Blakely, M. D., Pennsylvania; Noble Young, M. D., District of Columbia, Hachelor of Arts, John G. Agar, Louisians; Beli W. Etheridge, Tennessee; John I. Griffiss, Maryland; A. Thomas Harvey, District of Columbia; Clement Manly, North Carolica; John Carroll Payne, Virginia; William J. Willeox, Pennsylvania.

At the close of the conferring of degrees the valedictorian, Mr. John Carroll Payne, delivered his address:

At the close of the conterring of degrees the valedictorian, Mr. John Carroll Payne, delivored his address:

"The exercises of to-day are about to close, and the duty devolves upon me to deliver the valedictory address of the occasion. Great rheteric is not required, and indeed not in keeping with the occasion. Our lot is to exchange this quiet place for the rude conflicts of life. The younger students look forward to the day of graduation and the secane from the college rule and discipline, but they too will feel the chili that comes over our hearts at parting from within these walls. When the graduate has gone out of these halls into the turmoil of life he will be forgotten, and be remembered no more.

The advantages of the college are not appreciated. When we look back upon our lives we find our minds are not most enjoyed by the quickening and activity, but by the quiet of life. The glowing color with which our minds have colored everything will be brought down by the stern realities of life. When our memories will reverthere our attachments will be due to the ties formed here. When the world introduces friendship it will allay and dim these memories, and these walls that hold the graduating class will hold us no more; it will all fade into the past. Though we may become strangers to these scenes and acting in the drama of life, the precepts learned here will command success, however humble the beginning. If we look back upon the aerly beginning. If we look back upon the aerly beginning. To the president of the faculty we bid

AN APPECTIONATE PAREWELL; to you of the graduating class a fond adieu; to the students language almost fails to express my thoughts, but to you I bid farewell; ladies and gentlemen, I bid you farewell.

An extended list of scholars received honorable mention and distinguished marks. At the close of the distribution Rev. Father Healy, S. Ji, made a few pleasant and fitting remarks, saying he regretted that in the course of inventions nothing had been made to reduce the speech of a speaker into a few condensed words, so he would wish them an old-fashioned farewell.

Last night, about 9 o'clock, two colored boys named Lewis Johnson and Charles Williams named Lewis Johnson and Charles Williams went into Herizog's second-hand establishment on D street, between Ninth and Touth streets northwest, and while pretending to make a purchase seized a pair of shoes and endeavored to escape. The ladies in the store gave quick alarm and Lieut. Skippon and Officer Hinkle soon had the thievee in castody and confined at the Central guard-house.

Invention of a Washingtonian. There have been many improvements of late years in the manner of transmitting alarms of ire, but none has been devised, in connection with the present telegraph system, of more importance than the Ennis fire-alarm telegraph recorder, recently patented by a young man in this city. It has long been a question how to record alarms when they are received, other than by counting bells, which are sometimes out of inaccurate. This small instrum both makes a permanent record of the alarm and of the times the alarm was struck. One of the recorders has been attached to the fire-alarm gong in No. 3 engine-house for some time, and gong in No. 3 engine-house for some time, and opportunity has been given to see its workings. The proprietors of the invention, Henry Ennis & Co., of this city, are confident that it will become an indispensable part of every fire-alarm system. It has been shown by the tests of the instrument that it points out the alarm-box from which the alarm is struck; also marks down the exact moment of time the alarm comes in, and strikes the alarm on an attached gong. It works entirely independent of the large gong, and at a test on Friday last the boil mailed, but the instrument recorded the alarm perfectly. It is entiriely new, and the first instrument invented for recording slainus in engine-houses. As the matter stands at prevent, an alarm is struck on the bells, and everything is confusion during the reception of an slarm, and the consequences are that the alarm is often counted wrong, whereas this invention effectually prevents any such mistake. It gives an automatic record, which may be preserved for reference, which in itself makes the instrument valuable.

The fire commissioners of the city will give the valuable.

The fire commissioners of the city will give the instrument a thorough test. One of the recorders will be attached to the gong in the office of the board, and at the next meeting, which occurs July S, a test will be made in the presence of the Dis-

Mr. HARRISON, of Ill., said he was opposed to the false economy that had perval it the House. He held it to the truest economy erect buildings when labor is cheap and the dear rendy and willing to work, and when it if cannot get work elsewhere the Government should come to their aid. There was no use in keeping money locked up in the Treasury. It had better be put in these public buildings.

Mr. LORD'S amendment was rejected.

Mr. HURLBUT, of Ill., moved to strike out the whole paragraph, and said he did so because Mr. LORD'S amendment was rejected.

Mr. HURLBUT, of Ill., moved to strike out the whole paragraph, and said he did so because be wanted to oblige his friend from Indiana, [ar. Houman,] who was absent. He thought that gentleman would help to strike it out if he was here, because this was not a necessity and not in the line of economy.

Mr. LANDERS, of Ind., said it was evident that this whole matter was for the purpose of annoying Mr. HOLMAN.

Mr. CONGER said members could now see the fate of a relormer. Here was Mr. HOLMAN, who for years had advocated economy everywhere except in his own State, and the moment his back is turned, his friends turn upon him and rend him. [Laughter.]

The amendment to strike out was rejected.

Mr. COX, of N. Y., said the Democrats had been criticised for their economy; but gentlemen must remember that the House had saved thirtynine millions of dollars, and all out of little things, and gentlemen should not snear at little things.

Mr. LORD moved to strike out the appropria.

Mr. LORD moved to strike out the appropriation of &CO,000 for Philadelphia and make it $250,000, and said he did it because Mr. RANDALL should apply the same rule to his own city as he applied to others.

Mr. RANDALL said this was less than half of the estimate.

Mesers. LE MOYNE and PAGE remarked sar-castically that the amount ought to be retained as reported as a reward to Mr. Randall's serviers on economy.

A motion to increase the amount was rejected, and the item was retained.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 25, 1876.

My attention having been attracted to a testimonial from Rev. Dr. Domer, the distinguished pastor of the English Lutheran church, Eleventh and H streets, this city, certifying to the remarkable cure of an affection of the car by Dr. Hartley, I concluded to try the doctor's skill in a case of catarrh of very aggravated from, from which I had suffered many years past, which had seriously impaired my hearing and developed every symptom of consumption. I am happy to state that Dr. Hartley has effected acomplete and radical cure, removing every vertige of catarrh. radical cure, removing every vestige of catarrh, deafness and affection of the lungs, and I am now as beathy and can hear as perfectly as at any former period in my life. Dr. Hartley's remarkable success in my case justifies this testimonial, and he has my best thanks, with a more substantial evidence of my appreciation.

J. HENRY CARROLL
